ARTS & CULTURE

Beverly Hills has an acclaimed international reputation for its 100+ year history that stems from its intimate relationship with the entertainment industry. This rich Hollywood culture can be seen throughout the city, particularly at some of its historic hotels such as The Beverly Hills Hotel, Beverly Wilshire, A Four Seasons Hotel, Avalon Hotel Beverly Hills and The Beverly Hilton.

- The Wallis Annenberg Center for the Performing Arts: The Wallis combines a historic monument, the 1933 Italianate-style Beverly Hills Post Office, with a modern building to create a grand theater complex in the heart of the city. The 500-seat, state-of-the-art Bram Goldsmith Theater and 150-seat Lovelace Studio Theater showcase the finest in theater, music, dance, opera and professional theater for young audiences.
- Greystone Mansion & Gardens: The Doheny Estate: Discover one of Beverly Hills' hidden gems. Greystone Mansion, a historic mansion with a storied past, is tucked away in the hills. Greystone is also featured in dozens of films, including "The Big Lebowski," "The Dark Knight," "The Social Network," "Ghostbusters" and "There Will Be Blood." Park grounds are free and open to the public to explore, and offer an impressive view of the city.
- Public Art: More than 100 public art pieces can be seen throughout the city with notable works, including "Torso," by Robert Graham on Rodeo Drive, "Hymn of Life: Tulips," by Yayoi Kusama and "Electric Fountain" by Robert Merrell Gage in Beverly Gardens.

- Rodeo Drive Walk of Style®: Introduced in 2003, the Walk of Style honors style legends for their contributions to the world of fashion and entertainment. Rodeo Drive Walk of Style inductees receive a lasting tribute with permanent plaques featuring their signatures, which are embedded into the sidewalks along Rodeo Drive. Recipients of the Rodeo Drive Walk of Style Award include Giorgio Armani, Manolo Blahnik, Burberry and supermodel Iman.
