

10 Iconic Courthouses to Get Married In Across the U.S.

By Raven McMillan | Published on 11/09/21

Long before Carrie and Big made the courthouse wedding chic, civic centers around the country have humbly welcomed couples seeking an intimate space to say "I do." While these buildings are often ideal for no-fuss brides and grooms looking for a low-key union, these structures aren't solely utilitarian; many can stand up to some of the grandest of event venues. From deep historical significance and awe-inspiring architecture to incredible views and immaculate landscapes, there's a variety of wedding styles these sites are primed for.

From coast to coast, there's likely an impressive hall of justice to suit your taste. Maybe a Seattle courthouse wedding with sweeping city views sounds like the perfect match or perhaps Cleveland's Old Courthouse and its grand staircase is more your speed?

Read on to explore some of the most iconic wedding-friendly courthouses across the country.

03 Beverly Hills City Hall, California

of 10

COURTESY OF BEVERLY HILLS CONFERENCE & VISITORS BUREAU

It's no surprise that in a celebrity hub like Beverly Hills this courthouse has been the choice for famous brides such as Kristen Bell and Jessica Alba, but this city hall has much more to offer than its celebrity appeal. Inside this 1932-built landmark, couples will find original terrazzo floors, marble walls, intricate ceilings, and an evolving art space known as the Municipal Gallery. Outside, the dramatic Spanish-inspired edifice is surrounded by palm-fringed gardens, dramatic archways, and romantic balconies that create a sweet and sunny post-ceremony backdrop. A few blocks away from the courthouse, you'll find the city's famously manicured Beverly Gardens Park where couples can continue shooting red-carpet-worthy wedding photos.